By "JUNE" airtel dated 4/17/72 under the [REDACTED] caption Chicago set forth results of inquiry regarding the address in question and requested Bureau authority to conduct a survey to determine the feasibility of a MISUR installation. Authority to conduct the survey was granted in Bureau airtel dated 4/21/72. Chicago airtel dated 5/1/72 set forth results of a survey conducted 4/28/72 involving an extremely brief entry. Chicago recommended against installation of a MISUR but noted a TESUR was feasible. A subsequent request for TESUR was rejected since one could not be justified merely for the purpose of apprehending fugitives.

A nine point summary of pertinent data follows:

1. Date of entry - 4/28/72.

2. Location and nature of premises entered -
A second floor apartment in a converted two story wood frame house located at [REDACTED] Chicago, Illinois.

4. The group which was target of this inquiry was the Weatherman underground.

5. The purpose of the entry was to conduct a survey to determine feasibility of MISUR coverage.

6. The survey determined a MISUR was not feasible. No materials were obtained. Entry was very brief.

7. No organization other than the FBI participated

8. Approval for the survey was given in Bureau airtel dated 4/21/72. Identify of approving Bureau official unknown in Chicago although recollection not supported by records indicated Assistant Director MILLER, Division 5, desired survey made. Field office approval was handled

On today's date I made a further review of the contents of SAC safe at Philadelphia. Within this safe there was an item which I had not previously noted. It is a plain file type folder with no file numbers or distinctive markings thereon except words on the cover "Investigative Techniques." There are two "serials" in the folder which are blockstamped but not serialized. On the possibility these items might be pertinent to the instant inquiry, copies of the two "serials" are being enclosed herewith.

Memorandum

TO : File

DATE: 3-22-63

FROM : SAC

SUBJECT: INVESTIGATIVE TECHNIQUES

Today I talked to Assistant Director AL BELMONT who advised that the Bureau is extremely interested in the full utilization of all investigative techniques, including those of "bag jobs."

He stated that it is the responsibility of the SAC, ASAC, or the Supervisor in Charge to advise the Assistant Director involved and request authority for this investigative technique. He said briefly set out the facts of the case and the potential value of the operation and be sure there is no fishing expedition. We should be satisfied that proper planning has been put into effect in that the individual in the field who is making this recommendation is fully assured of complete security.

When such technique is used an informal memo should be filed in the SAC's office which will be available to the inspection staff, after which they can be destroyed. The same information should be sent to the Bureau in order that the proper officials can become cognizant.

Only stable and dedicated agents should be utilized on this type of technique.

Reference is made to your memorandum of August 19, 1975, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," in which you asked for certain information concerning surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel since January 1, 1966. Further reference is made to our memorandum of April 30, 1976, captioned as above, reporting results of a canvass of all Bureau field offices for documents relating to surreptitious entries.

On August 2, 1976, our Philadelphia Office advised that as a result of a further review of the contents of the Special Agent in Charge's (SAC) office safe, two unserialized documents were located in a folder marked "Investigative Techniques." Copies of the documents, as described below, were forwarded to FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ).

Reference is made to your memorandum of August 19, 1975, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," in which you asked for certain information concerning surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel since January 1, 1966.

In a communication of July 29, 1976, our Chicago Office advised that during a review of a closed file in that office, information was located showing an April 28, 1972, entry in connection with a survey for microphone installation.

ALL
 SK
 6/10

The April 28 survey determined that a microphone installation was not feasible. No materials were obtained during the survey; no organization other than the FBI participated.

The FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) file relating to [redacted] indicates that the use of a microphone installation was suggested to Chicago by FBIHQ. The Chicago Office recommended the survey and requested authority to conduct same in a communication of April 17, 1972. Authority to conduct the survey was communicated to Chicago in an airtel of April 21, 1972.

NOTE:

6112) Bureau nitel of 7/23/76 asked all field offices to search informant symbol number indices for symbol numbers assigned to surreptitious entries which may not have been brought to attention of Bureau and Department. Philadelphia Office advised on 7/30/76 that [REDACTED] used in connection with an extremist case handled by that office; however, Philadelphia did not identify the informant or furnish any details surrounding the surreptitious entry. We are asking Philadelphia to provide the necessary information.

Reference is made to your memorandum of August 19, 1975, captioned "Surreptitious Entries," in which you asked for certain information concerning surreptitious entries performed by Bureau personnel since January 1, 1966. (U)

As you are aware, from time to time we have located certain files and documents indicating surreptitious entry activity not previously brought to your attention, and falling within the scope of your inquiry. Recently, one section of an FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) file came to our attention which, because it concerns the assignment of informant symbol numbers and informant coverage, warranted review to determine whether or not any of the numbers therein might have been assigned to entry activity. (U)

HEREIN IS UNCLASSIFIED EXCEPT WHERE SHOWN OTHERWISE.

The "Security Informant Program" file, 66-2542-3, is maintained to account statistically for the informant coverage in all field offices, and to show additions to, and deletions from, informant programs in each office. The file consists of monthly, quarterly and other periodic submissions from each field division. There are two sections of this file: the main file, and the "JUNE" file. (U)

On April 30, 1976, in connection with Intelligence Division (INTD) responses to requests of your Division, the "JUNE" section of the "Security Informant Program" file was reviewed for all offices. In the "JUNE" sub-file for our New York Office were located several memoranda showing New York's assignment of symbol numbers to "highly confidential sources." Each symbol number located was carefully checked against material previously furnished to you, i.e., entry activity subsequent to January 1, 1966, and it was determined that symbol numbers in the file had either been furnished to your office or had occurred prior to January 1, 1966. (X)

On July 28, 1976, in connection with a recent INTD-initiated survey of all field offices to determine whether or not their respective informant symbol number indices contained numbers assigned to surreptitious entries, the New York Office consulted INTD as to the identity of certain symbol numbers which that office could not identify. The following INTD search located a reference to the main file, "Security Informant Program." (X)

A review of the New York Division main case sub-file "Security Informant Program," showed a number of memoranda showing assignment of informant symbol numbers to "highly confidential sources." This review was made on July 30, 1976. No symbol numbers for New York were located in this file which fall within the scope of your inquiry, or which have not been previously furnished to you. (X)

The standard filing procedure for memoranda dealing with highly sensitive confidential sources calls for filing in the "JUNE" section of the main case file. As mentioned above, the "JUNE" section of "Security Informant Program" was reviewed on April 30, 1976. To insure that our search for memoranda dealing with "highly confidential source" symbol numbers was thorough, on August 2 and 3, 1976, an in-depth review was made of the "Security Informant Program" main case file for all other offices. This review failed to disclose memoranda showing assignment of symbol numbers to "highly confidential sources," however, one symbol number was located which falls within the scope of your inquiry.  Re Bureau teletype 8/9/76 and Philadelphia

As indicated in my teletype 8/9/76 we are enclosing two Xerox copies each of two serials which are the entire content of Philadelphia file [REDACTED]. Also at this time, as indicated, we located a Sub A to this same file and are enclosing two copies of the single serial which is the content of this Sub A section of the main file.

SA [REDACTED] is the agent who prepared and dictated serial two dated 6/27/72. The case was opened "dead" and never assigned to SA [REDACTED] whose only apparent association with the source file was to prepare serial two. SA [REDACTED] memo is attached.

The Supervisor at the time at Philadelphia was [REDACTED] now retired. The informant was apparently handled by SA [REDACTED] who would be the person most knowledgeable about the source. This agent is not currently assigned to this office and his office of assignment is not known here. Would suggest [REDACTED] be contacted by the Bureau for further explanation of this matter, if further facts are required.

On 8/19/76, at approximately 3:30 pm, SA [redacted] CI-1 Section, Intelligence Division, was looking in a file cabinet in Room 4204, which is the outer office for CI-1 Section, for a leave schedule folder to make up a new weekend duty roster. He noticed a folder marked "Sensitive Programs." As the file cabinet in which that folder was stored is secured only by a [redacted] lock, he pulled the folder to see if it contained material which should be retained in a more secure location. In examining the folder, SA [redacted] saw the original of a memorandum from W.A. Branigan to E.S. Miller dated 5/31/72, entitled "Major Intelligence Programs," and also a memorandum from W.A. Branigan to E.S. Miller dated 6/6/72. In view of the information in that memorandum, he brought it immediately to my attention. Xeroxed copies of the material contained in the folder are attached.

The program was first initiated in New York and was later expanded to Washington, D. C.; Seattle, Washington; Los Angeles, California; and to Detroit, Michigan. It was suspended in all offices except New York and Washington, D. C., in 1963 and was discontinued there in July, 1966. X

Our decision to discontinue these surveys came indirectly as a result of a Senate Committee's (Senator Edward Long's committee) probe into the subject of mail covers. During these committee hearings which took place in March, 1965, our coverage came close but was not dragged into the hearings; however, Senator Long had indicated to the then Attorney General, "There were some Bureau Agents as potential witnesses and that they would take the Fifth Amendment rather than testify as to any national security matter." (S)(u)

Z Coverage was instituted during World War II and enabled us to monitor postal communications directed to official establishments of unfriendly governments. It was continued after World War II and operated against Soviet establishments in New York and Washington, D. C., until it was discontinued in July, 1966. The process of screening this postal correspondence was highly selective and only a limited number of communications were actually opened. (S)(u)

PURPOSE:

To show results of review of available material concerning surreptitious entries for information relating to allegations in captioned article that around 1957 the Director, while Special Agent in Charge (SAC), Birmingham, approved a request to conduct a break-in.

SYNOPSIS:

Captioned Washington Star article alleged that while serving as SAC, Birmingham, Director Kelley approved a request seeking FBI Headquarters (FBIHQ) authorization for a break-in, between 1957 and 1960, possibly against a communist or Ku Klux Klan group in the Birmingham, Alabama, area. Review over the past 12 months of numerous files, indices and other material relating to surreptitious entries failed to locate any information indicating such action as alleged occurred.

Re: Washington Star Article
"Kelley Asked Break In OK As Agent"
August 26, 1976
66-8160

DETAILS:

In an article entitled ~~Kelley Asked Break-In~~ ^{WASH} OK As Agent," Washington Star Staff Writer Jerry Oppenheimer reported on August 26, 1976, that a "knowledgeable source" said that while SAC, Birmingham, during the period 1957 to 1960, Director Kelley had approved a request seeking FBIHQ authorization for a break-in, possibly against a communist or Ku Klux Klan group.

INTD conducted reviews of numerous files, indices and other material over the past 12 months for information concerning entries and no information has been located indicating the Birmingham Office ever communicated to FBIHQ a request to conduct an entry against any group.

A review of FBIHQ file (66-2542-3) dealing with confidential informants, showing assignment of symbol numbers to all types of informant coverage including "anonymous sources" and "highly confidential sources," failed to show the assignment by the Birmingham Office of any symbol number to activity which could be interpreted as possibly involving surreptitious entry.

A review of informant symbol number indices maintained by the CI-5 Section of the INTD which records the assignment of symbol numbers to sources other than live sources (predominantly electronic surveillance matters) failed to locate any informant symbol number card for the Birmingham Office which could possibly be interpreted as referring to a surreptitious entry. Informant symbol number cards for the Birmingham Office in this file begin as early as 1943.

Fieldwide surveys of March 18, 1976, and April 13, 1976, for SAC knowledge of entry activity and for documents pertaining to entry activity, respectively, met with negative responses from the Birmingham Office.

Re: Washington Star Article
 "Kelley Asked Break In OK As Agent"
 August 26, 1976
66-8160

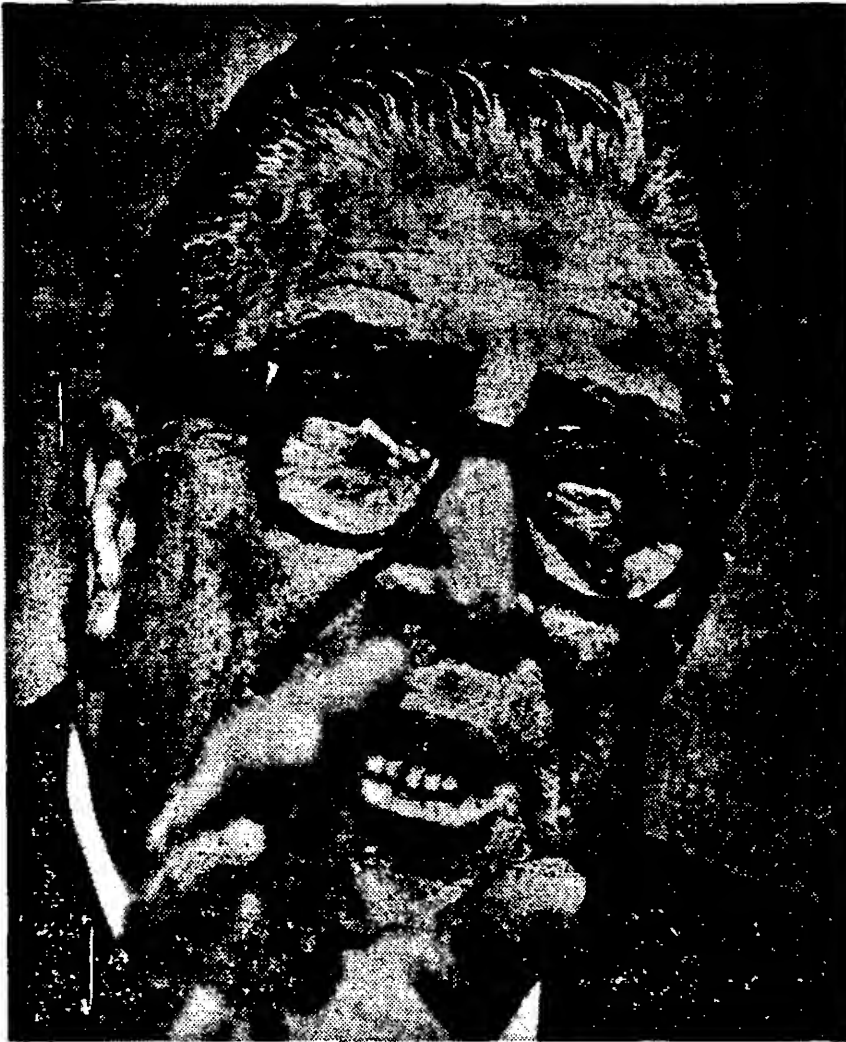

While review of available FBIHQ records failed to show any indication that the activity as alleged in the Star article took place or came to the attention of FBIHQ, the procedures and practices in recording information concerning entries were such that the lack of information at FBIHQ does not necessarily indicate that information concerning the activity does not exist.

KELLEY ASKED BREAK-IN OK AS AGENT

Acted as Head Of FBI Office In Birmingham

By Jerry Oppenheimer

Washington Star Staff Writer

—Associated Press

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley says he cannot recall asking bureau permission in the late 1950s to conduct an investigative break-in.

FBI Director Clarence M. Kelley, while serving as special agent in charge of the Birmingham, Ala., field office in the late 1950s, requested authorization from Washington headquarters for at least one break-in, according to a knowledgeable source.

The source, who formerly held a high position in the bureau, said that Kelley approved the request for authorization that went to headquarters, based on a recommendation from the agent heading the investigation.

The source said he could not recall the investigative reason for the surreptitious entry request from the Birmingham office. But he said it was made between December 1957 and November 1960 when Kelley was special agent in charge there.

ONE REASON FOR the request, a bureau official speculated yesterday could have been that in 1956, about a year before Kelley took over the Birmingham office, the FBI initiated its controversial counterintelligence operation, Cointelpro. Its first target was the Communist party-U.S.A. and the official speculated that the Birmingham office might have been investigating a Communist group in the area. The FBI was also active against the Ku Klux Klan during the period.

Break-ins were among the investigative techniques used by the bureau during Cointelpro — a concerted effort to harass, discredit and disrupt organizations that were considered threats to the country. Cointelpro was ended in 1971.

Kelley, through a bureau spokesman, did not deny the source's assertion yesterday, but said he could "not recall" requesting a surreptitious entry while serving in Birmingham. But, Kelley emphasized, "If I did have a recollection I would have no hesitancy in admitting it."

At the time of the alleged request the source said, Kelley was "wholeheartedly in favor" of break-ins as an investigative technique in intelligence investigations. "He was traditionalist. He never objected to those techniques when he was a SAC."

The source said that, during his time in the bureau, "there never was a special agent in charge who didn't understand and approve of surreptitious entries. No one ever complained, they all approved. Kelley was fully cognizant of those operations and he approved."

THE ASSERTION by the former bureau official concerning Kelley's past activities is the first that links the director to the past abuses instituted and authorized by the late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover ostensibly ended the use of surreptitious entries in 1966, but the Justice Department is now probing break-ins carried out by agents in 1972 and 1973.

For the period prior to 1966, few if any records are believed to exist that could prove or disprove Kelley's alleged involvement in requesting authorization for a break-in.

Standard procedure at the time was to destroy all documents relating to surreptitious entries within a year. Within that year, according to findings of the Senate Intelligence Committee, the "Do Not File" procedure called for holding the records in the office safes of special agents in charge.

A bureau official, discussing the source's assertion that Kelley requested a break-in, said:

"In those days, prior to 1966, all of the people in the field (including Kelley) felt that if Hoover authorized it (break-ins), he got authority from higher up, such as an attorney general. They (agents) thus felt it to be a legal and valuable technique."

The Senate Intelligence Committee concluded that there was no indication that any attorney general was informed of the so-called "black bag jobs."

WITH KELLEY identified as having allegedly requested approval for a break-in, the two top officials of the beleaguered bureau have been linked to what are considered to be the wrongful past abuses of power authorized during the Hoover reign.

Richard G. Held, named by Kelley last month as the bureau's No. 2 man, headed the Minneapolis field office in the late 1960s and early 1970s when that office targeted Cointelpro activities against groups there.

As a result of news reports concerning those activities, Held issued a statement accepting responsibility for all actions "good or bad" that flowed from the office. But Held emphasized that, "I was not in any decision-making positions when this program was instituted, nor did I direct it while the program (Cointelpro) was active."

He laid the blame for any possible wrongdoing on headquarters officials who "instituted and directed" Cointelpro and contended that "it was our responsibility to implement" it.

It was understood yesterday that Kelley, who was said to have approved Held's statement, takes a similar view for any such activities in which he was involved while serving in the field for 21 years before retiring from the bureau in Oct. 1961. After serving as chief of the Kansas City police department, he returned to the bureau as director in 1973, a year after Hoover died.

KELLEY HAS NEVER acknowledged participating in break-ins while serving in the field. "I'm not saying that Clarence Kelley engaged in such activities or did not engage in these activities," he said at a July 14 press conference.

But Kelley characterized the areas in which surreptitious entries were used prior to 1966 as those involving counterintelligence or national security.

Earlier this year Kelley publicly apologized for past FBI misdeeds and subtly criticized Hoover for allowing the abuses. But Kelley did not list the activities he considered wrong.

Kelley consistently maintained until the 1972-73 break-ins came to light that such activities ended with Hoover's 1966 directive. Earlier this month, however, Kelley charged that he had been deliberately "deceived" by aides who withheld from him knowledge of the later break-ins.

Reference is made to our memorandum of July 23, 1976 captioned "Surreptitious Entries," in which we advised of our proposal to canvass all field offices' informant symbol numbers to determine whether or not there exist instances of surreptitious entry falling within the scope of your present inquiry which had not been brought to your attention.

We have completed the fieldwide canvass and, with the below exceptions, have been unable to identify surreptitious entries within the scope of your inquiry which have not been brought to your attention.

The Philadelphia office has advised that on February 18, 1972, informant symbol number [REDACTED] was assigned to an anonymous source which furnished, on February 18, 1972, numerous telephone numbers obtained from the walls of an apartment and address book inside the residence of [REDACTED] Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. [REDACTED] was the subject of a Philadelphia office investigation into Weatherman underground activities.

The Philadelphia file does not indicate if surreptitious entry was effected to obtain the above information, nor does material transmitted to FBIHQ from Philadelphia show the circumstances surrounding authorities approving use of [REDACTED]

Philadelphia reports that the [REDACTED] handling [REDACTED] was [REDACTED] now retired. The informant was handled by Special Agent [REDACTED]

Information regarding [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] may be located in Philadelphia files [REDACTED] and 100-53469, and FBIHQ files 66-8160 ("JUNE") and 100-466098.

Attached to yellow are responses of each field office to our nitel of 7/23/76, in which we asked that symbol number indices be reviewed for evidence of numbers assigned to entries. INTD has made an effort to identify each symbol number brought to our attention by field offices, and marginal notations on field responses (attached to yellow) show the extent of these efforts. Most such numbers represent entries occurring before 1/1/66, after 1/1/66, and already brought to Department's attention, or after 1/1/60, and not in connection with the Socialist Workers Party civil suit. A copy of Philadelphia airtel, 8/10/76, regarding [REDACTED] is attached to Mr. Long's tickler. Original material filed in 66-8160 (JUNE).

We have a copy of a recent "Motion for Discovery and Inspection" by former Special Agent John Kearney, defendant in criminal case number 77-0245. Number 22 of this motion states:

Any and all evidence which supports the view that members of The Weatherman organization had contact with or received support or comfort from any hostile foreign governments or representatives of hostile foreign governments or persons supporting the aims of any hostile foreign government including but not limited to:

The Attorney General

a. The "Chicago Report", so-called. More specifically, a report compiled by the Chicago Office of the F.B.I. detailing the relationship of members of The Weatherman organization and foreign governments or agents.

b. Any and all wiretaps or electronic surveillance conducted by any Government agency including, but not limited to, the U. S. Armed Forces, the National Security Agency, F.B.I., C.I.A., and Department of State, and more specifically, a wiretap or interception by C.I.A. or National Security Agency agents or any other Government agency of one William Ayers, which tap or interception indicates contact with the Government of North Vietnam.

It would appear that classified national security material and information, including that of a sensitive compartmented character, may become subject to disclosure in this matter. In accordance with Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 17.55, I am reporting this possible compromise of classified material to you and, by a copy of this memorandum, to the Chairman of the Department Review Committee. (S)

Since Sensitive Compartmented Information originating with the National Security Agency may become subject to disclosure, you may desire to consult with that Agency regarding necessary clearance procedures. Also, you may desire to afford former Special Agent Kearney and his counsel, Hubert J. Santos, clearance for access to information classified by this Department and to secure their agreement to abide by the Department's regulations concerning access to, security of and disclosure of classified information. ADDENDUM BY LEGAL COUNSEL: JAM 6-10-77

This memorandum was referred to me for comment at 9:34 a. m. on June 10, 1977, by Mr. Revell, Executive Assistant to the Associate Director.

Title 28, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 17.55, provides for a report to be made to the Security Officer of the Division (FBI); to the Security Officer of the Department; and to the Department Review Committee concerning possible compromise of classified national security information or material. There is no provision in that section calling for specific notification of the Attorney General of possible compromise of such information or material. Further, the three items described in the memorandum (Ayers case; Chicago memo 8-20-76; and Kearney's Discovery Motion) apparently have been made available to the Department previously. My opinion is that if this memorandum is intended merely to comply with the provisions of 28 CFR 17.55 it need not be addressed to the Attorney General in order to accomplish that purpose. If the memorandum has some other purpose which justifies it being sent to the Attorney General, such other purpose could be more clearly expressed in order to avoid possible misconstruction by the Attorney General.
